Rectal Diseases—Symptoms.

Bleeding and protrusion at stool tell you plainly that you have the piles or true hemorrhoids. Cure guaranteed.

Bleeding and severe pain at stool, and a sensation as if a sharp stone or the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in cancer, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrils or through the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or green h-yellow color, frequently tinged with blood, and almost always attended by an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, "the disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physician has to encounter." In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to debar him from society, and render him an object of distrust even to himself."

In some instances pieces of bone become separated and slough off, leaving deep, unhealthy ulcers, which secrete a blood matter, and are extremely difficult to heal.

After catarrh has continued some time the senses of smell become impaired and often lost.

Deafness is one of its most common consequences and results from its extension through the eustachian tube to the internal ear.

Pains in the head and over the frontal sinuses, impairing memory, and even insanity frequently springs from the extension to the brain.

The greatest danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present in some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh or ozena, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhappiness to thousands of both sexes, by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people. Every disease of this kind can be cured by our new system of practice.

The discharge takes place through the nostrils or through the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or green h-yellow color, frequently tinged with blood, and almost always attended by an offensive smell. Catarrh—A New Treatment.

Catarrh is undoubtedly caused by the presence of living parasites in the mucous membrane. Our object is to destroy these, when the catarrh is practically cured. It makes no difference whether the case is of one or forty years standing. Ninety per cent. are permanently cured by our mode of treatment, and usually from one to four applications of medicine are all that is necessary. Call on or address W. R. DAVIS, M. D., 453 S. Estimates of the wheat crop of the Pacific Coast show a lamentable falling off this year. The total yield of 42,200,000 leaves a shortage of 26,580,000 bushels compared with the crop of 1884. The wheat crop of the entire United States will fall 134,000,000 bushels below the average.

A new candidate for the office of Surveyor of the Port of San Francisco has appeared in the person of R. M. Turner of Oakland, who has the indorsement of Governor Sonsman and Attorney General Marshall. The question now arises, Who indorses Stoneman and Marshall?

The funeral of Victor Hugo, which took place in Paris yesterday, seems to have amounted to an outpouring of the French provinces. Paris was so thronged that many people were obliged to bivouac the previous night in the streets. The revolutionist outbreak which was feared had not occurred up to a late hour.

The rumor continues to grow in volume that the President and Secretary of State are at outs. The fact is, Mr. Cleveland must be a more apathetic man than he has ever been described, if he can exercise patience over the blunders to which Secretary Bayard has committed his administration.

The Court of Claims to which the Union Pacific Railroad Company appealed for a large sum for carrying the mails has found the question of compensation to be "on the contrary quite the reverse." The Court figures it up that the company owes the Government something over a million and a quarter of dollars.

The San Francisco Post closes an article on Memorial Day with the following true sentence: "Memorial Day will outlast the veterans who are the chief figures in its observance to-day. It has become a national institution, and the sentiment underlying it has its roots in American patriotism, which will never let it die."

In the local elections held in Virginia the Republicans have loss in some places, but in a number of others have made gains. The Virginia debt decision of the Supreme Court has undoubtedly exerted an effect in favor of the Mahone party. The policy of the new administration may also have had its effect.

Indian depredations continue. The stampede of miners and prospectors and the murder of defenseless families goes on. The outbreak can have but one ending—the Indians must go. But before that result is accomplished many hundreds of lives may be sacrificed. It is but the result of divided counsels and of a timid and vacillating policy on the part of the Government.

Officer Chas. Keary made a close shave for the jig prize, planking down heel and toe in a fashion to paralyze the per fesh.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Of the California Grand Lodge, I. O. O. T.

Merrill Lodge No. 299, I. O. G. T., celebrated at Good Templars' Hall last night the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Grand Lodge of the State by a pleasant entertainment. Following is the programme:

Culver; solo by Miss Palmer; intermission; solo by Miss Breed; speeches by Jesse Yarnell and Judge George S. Hupp. A very handsome silver water service, with tilting pitcher, was presented to the lodge by the younger members through A. M. Ellsworth. Judge Hupp made the speech of acceptance on behalf of the society. The attendance was good and the occasion enjoyable.

The Saloon Ordinance.

The motion to have the City Attorney draw up an ordinance ordering the saloons to close at 10 o'clock, was carried at the last Council meeting without a dissenting voice. There has been considerable stupid firing, from both sides, against those alleged to have voted for or against the motion. The shooters have been misled by inaccurate reports.

VICTOR HUGO.

An Outpouring of the French People

TO ATTEND HIS FUNERAL SERVICES

The Arc de Triomphe is the Mecca of France—No Revolutionist Outbreak As Feared.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

PARIS, June 1, 10 a. m.—Although rain fell during the night and there was every indication in the early morning of more rain to-day, hundreds of thousands of people were abroad at day-break. They are already crowding the streets and the boulevards through which the great procession will move that accompanies the remains of Victor Hugo to his last resting place in the Pantheon. Owing to the crowded condition of the hotels thousands were compelled to bivouac in the open air all night. The space around the Arc de Triomphe is already filled with the chief officers of state, members of the diplomatic corps, senators and deputies. From all directions come deputations with draped banners and bearing flowers and gigantic wreaths, and all moving in the direction of the Arc de Triomphe, the Mecca of France to-day. Never before did Paris present such a scene. The chestnut trees in the Champs Elysees are in full bloom, and form a strange contrast to the veiled lights, draped banners, the soldiers in uniform, and vast sea of spectators, all in habiliments of mourning, that fined either side of the immense field. Large bodies of cavalry occupy the streets leading to the Champs Elysees. Minute guns are being fired from the Hotel des Invalides and from Fort Valerian. The crowds are very orderly and at this hour there is no sign of the trouble so much talked of and written about. Socialists are taking the places assigned to them in the line of procession. Grains laden with visitors from the provinces and abroad are constantly arriving. The enormous crowds already here are ever increasing.

THE PROCESSION MOVES WITHOUT HITCH.

PARIS, June 1.—The funeral procession started punctually at noon. The procession moving without hitch in the prescribed programme. The police arrested several bearers of red flags, which were unfurled at the starting points or headquarters of the several revolutionary societies. There was, however, no serious collision yet. The funeral oration was delivered at the Arc de Triomphe by M. Floquet. It touched the hearts of his hearers and was loudly applauded.

A REVOLUTIONARY DEMONSTRATION THREATENED.

PARIS, June 1, 1:40 P. M.—The head of the procession, escorting the body of Hugo to the Pantheon, has just reached that logement of the illustrious dead. The immense crowd that fills the Boulevard Michael includes a number of the people who go to make up the disturbing and dangerous element of the city's population. Now that the funeral is practically over these roughs threaten to inaugurate the revolutionary demonstration which has been expected since the death of Hugo.

THE MARCH PEACEABLY RESUMED.

The march of the procession ended without anything happening that might be called of a disorderly character. The accidents incident to the presence of such an immense concourse of people were numerous, and in many instances were of a serious character.

SIX ORATIONS.

Six orations were delivered under the Arc de Triomphe in the presence of nearly all the illustrious men of and in France. Le Royer, President of the Senate, said that Victor Hugo constantly pursued the higher ideal of justice and humanity, and this exercised an immense influence over the moral feeling of France.

RESPECTFUL AND QUIET.

The funeral of Victor Hugo, up to this hour (3:40 p. m.), has been conducted with every mark of respect. The enormous mass of people in the streets maintain an exceptional quiet.

VICTOR HUGO.

A Brief Sketch of This Illustrious Frenchman's Life and Accomplishments.

Vicomte Victor Marie Hugo, the foremost writer, and one of the greatest men of France, whose funeral took place in Paris yesterday and occasioned a general outpouring of the French people, was born at Besancon in 1802. His mother was a native of La Vendie, and from her he imbibed romantic royalist sentiments, although his father was a most devoted follower of Napoleon. Victor Hugo early acquired distinction by his poetic effusions; and before he was thirty years of age his published works were numerous and his name famous. Odes and ballads, romances, dramas etc., flowed from his prolific pen. His drama of Maron Delorme was received with enthusiasm and he added to his literary reputation by the publication of "Feuilles de Automne." In 1837 Louis Philippe made him an officer of the Legion of Honor, and in 1845 a peer of France. After the Revolution of 1848 he was elected to represent Paris both in the Constituent and in the Legislative Assembly, in which he manifested Democratic principles, and was one of the members of the extreme Left who were banished from France for life by Louis Napoleon. Hugo went to reside in the island of Jersey. In 1852 he assailed the ruler of France in a political pamphlet, "Napoleon le Petit" and the next year in "Les Chatiments," a series of poems written with great force, in the same spirit. In 1859 he published his "Contemplations." On the fall of the Empire he hastened back to his native country, joined in the Republican movement, and was returned to the National Assembly as a Bordeaux, which, however, he soon quitted in disgust. He then went to Brussels, but the Belgian government expelled him from the country and he went back to seek refuge in Vianden, a village of Luxemburg, where "L'Aimee Terrible" was composed. Hugo gave an account of his life in "Actes et Paroles," 1870-72. In 1862 appeared "Les Miserables" in 1869, "L'Homme qui Rit;" "Quatervingt-treizes" in 1874; a collection of his speeches in 1875; the "Legende de Siecles" in 1877; and "L' Histoir d'n Crime" in 1878.

Freaks of a Crazy Printer.

Denver, Colo., June 1.—There is an intimation from Chicago to-day that Louis Reaum, the Denver printer who captured the Wabash train between Kansas City and Chicago yesterday, was not crazy except from the effects of liquor, is received by his friends with indignant surprise. They say he does not drink; that his acts on the Wabash cannot thus be attributable to that cause. About seven o'clock Friday evening, an hour before he started, Reaume met Justice Sopris on Fourteenth street and complained that a lot of men were after him. He talked and acted in a manner that showed plainly he was crazy. Sopris told him he had better go home and look himself up. He replied that he would so soon as he notified the police that the men were after him. He went to headquarters and made complaint and then went back up town. He must have then gone directly to the train. Before he saw Sopris he went to the Merchants' stables and said a lot of men were after him and wanted to kill him, and asked for a horse to go to the police headquarters. Several other men who saw him that evening say he was certainly crazy.

No Rest for the Russian Poles.

London, June 1.—The supposition that the expulsion of Russian Poles from Prussian territory, where they had seemed to secure Russian despotism, was an undertstanding between the Governments of Prussia and Germany seems to have no sufficient foundation. Russia, it appears, is anything but pleased at the action of the Prussian authorities and is engaged in the execution of retaliatory measures. Many Germans who have been residing in Russia are being forced to return to their native country, hardly any notice being given them. Such hardship and suffering attends their expulsion. In many instances these refugees reach the German frontier in a destitute condition.

Internal Revenue Collector.

Washington, June 1.—The President to-day appointed Robert Barnett to be Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of California.

The Historical Society.

The Historical Society of Southern California met last night and listened to a long and able address on the Bourbon dynasty of France, by Prof. Moses, of the State University at Berkeley.

INCENDIARIES.

They Destroy Fifty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property.

San Jose, June 1.—Incendiaries were at work last night and destroyed at Milpitas $50,000 worth of property. They started with the Midway schoolhouse, near Milpitas, and destroyed it, then fired Wm. Boot's Chinese house and barn near Milpitas. Then they totally destroyed Henry Topham's warehouse at Milpitas, worth $10,000, and containing 1000 tons of hay and four cars. They then burned two cars at Wayne's station and fired the railroad bridge over Coyote Creek. Boot's property and the bridge were saved; all the rest were destroyed. The schoolhouse was worth $2000; no insurance. The warehouse was insured for $6500, and the grain, which was owned by various parties, was partially insured.

How the Union Pacific Stands.

Washington, June 1.—The Union Pacific Railroad case was a claim brought by the railroad company to recover for transportation of mails and for other service rendered the government, to which the government filed offsets for 6 per cent. to be paid into the Treasury under the Act of 1862 and 25 per cent. under the Thurman Act. The court found the facts and reached a conclusion upon the law last February, and the opinion was then read by the Chief Justice. It was then ordered by the court that computations be made in accordance with the opinion, and experts have since been at work upon the matter. The computation is now complete, showing that the railroad is indebted to the government in something over $1,250,000. Judgement will be entered accordingly.

A Consistent Christian.

Washington, June 1.—A. F. Howard, Collector of Customs at Portsmouth, tendered his resignation to the Secretary of the Treasury. In his letter he says that he has held the office since December 24, 1878, during which time he has endeavored to faithfully discharge its duties. He then adds: I have also, during all that time, been a zealous member of the Republican party, and in every way possible contributed to its success. Consequently my "offensive partisanship" can be established by many witnesses. For twenty years I have also been a firm believer in the old Jacksonian doctrine, 'to the victor belongs the spoils.' Consistency therefore compels me firmly to adhere to these principles and convictions in defeat as well as in victory." To-day Alpheus Hansom was appointed his successor.

Iron Workers' Strike.

Pittsburg, June 1.—Workmen in the iron mills where the new scale has not been signed, went out on a strike this morning. The far ten out of thirty-eight iron and steel mills in this district have signed, but there does not seem to be much of a prospect for a general resumption in the near future. Among the iron manufacturers there seems to be a determined opposition to the terms proposed by the union. If these utterances are in earnest the chances for the speedy adjustment of the difficulties are exceedingly small.

A Bad Fumigation.

St. Helena, Cal., June 1.—James Dowdell, whose residence is about a mile from St. Helena, met with a serious loss by fire this morning. The property destroyed consisted of 115 bales of hops, a new wine cellar, two barns, two dry-houses and other material. The fire was probably the work of an incendiary. The property destroyed was valued at nearly $8000, partly covered by insurance.

General Grant.

New York, June 1.—"General Grant," said Dr. Douglas on leaving the house this morning, "had a pretty fair night, sleeping in snatches, and waiting me between times to apply a lotion to relieve him in his throat. He is, I think, a little easier, but suffers very much as the disease progresses. He is apparently improved in his general condition. He may be able to take a drive to-day."

Fresh Dynamiters.

London, June 1.—The police are informed that two dynamiters have arrived in England and only await a favorable opportunity to carry out their designs. Notices have been sent to all police stations to arrest an Irish-American who landed in England about the middle of May and took lodgings in London, and remained there until the 26th of May, when he disappeared in a most suspicious manner, going off with another Irish-American, for whom the police are also on the watch.

The Pacific Coast Wheat Crop.

San Francisco, June 1.—Carefully prepared estimates of the wheat crop of California and Washington Territory for the present year show a total yield of 42,200,000 bushels, against 68,780,000 for 1884, a shortage of 26,580,000 bushels. The total wheat crop of the entire country for 1885 is computed at 380,000,000 bushels, against an average yield for the past five years of 464,000,000 bushels.

A New Candidate.

San Francisco, June 1.—A Call's Washington special states that a new candidate for the office of Surveyor of the Port of San Francisco has appeared in the person of R. M. Turner, of Oakland. Turner is indorsed by Governor Stoneman, the Attorney General and other State officers of California.

Second Comptroller of the Treasury.

The natives were putting off in boats for a friendly visit, when the crew, mistaking their object, fired at them. A few days afterwards the water fell so that the ship grounded, when the natives burned it and beheaded the crew.

CROOK REPORTS.

It is an Outbreak Similar to Victorio's,

AND WILL BE HARD TO SUPPRESS

Crook Will Take the Field in Person and Follow the Indians into Mexico, If Necessary.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

San Francisco, June 1.—The Call will publish to-morrow the following dispatch, received to-day by General Pope, commanding the Pacific Division, from General Crook, in Arizona:

Fort Bayard, May 31.—Have just arrived. I find that there are eight bodies of troops out after the Indians. The latter have doubtless divided into small parties. No reports have been received from any of the troops since the 26th ult. The Indians have killed a number of people and committed many outrages. The outlook is bad. Everything indicates a trouble similar to the Victorio outbreak, and that it will be very difficult to suppress. General Bradley's dispositions of troops, it seems, have been such as were compulsory under the circumstances.

Crook Will Take the Field.

Denver, June 1.—The News' Silver City, New Mexico, special says that the Bear creek ranchmen driven in by Indians a week ago, returned home Saturday, finding fresh Indian signs. They found the bodies of horses and cattle killed the same day. That night eight large Indian fires were seen in the neighboring hills. The ranchmen who returned to the city reported the above facts. Yesterday twenty well-armed frontiersmen, headed by Major Fleming of this city, started for the locality. Scouts are sent to follow the trail until they overtake the Indians. Couriers from Captain Smith's command says he had a short fight on Monday with the Apache negro soldiers ran. A courier from Burro mountains says there are no Indian signs south of Mangove valley, showing them to be entirely north of this city in Dead cross and Upper Mimbres country. Those not gone north to the Black range are apparently hanging around the Gila. Captain Smith is close behind, pushing the Indians toward the Gila. These comprise the largest portions of the Indians out in this section. They are thought to be striving to return to their reservation, finding themselves out of in other directions. Thirty mounted Indians passed five prospectors near Hood's Recreation, a tributary of Duck Creek, Saturday. Yesterday the Indians stole a herd of sheep and goats on the Upper Mimbres. General Crook arrived at Fort Bayard yesterday, and will take the field in person and push operations to the extent of going into Mexico, if necessary.

ANSELMI ON THE TRAIL.

V. Lopez, Constable, Has His Suspicions Aroused.

When you can assume Deputy Sheriff Joe Anselmi, of San Gabriel, or any of the good people of San Fernando, don't breathe a word about horse-thieves—unless you wear a bullet-iron underskirt. Better tickle the heels of an army mule or shake a smallpox flag at the wild bulls of Bushan than ask them whether they caught the man who stole the sorrel horse. But to explain.

Sunday night Sheriff Gard received the following telegram from San Fernando:

Two Americans here trying to sell sorrel horse and buggy. Horse about played out. Think he was stolen.

The Sheriff telegraphed back:

If men there, arrest and hold. Will advise you further. Gus. R. Gard.

At 10:50 yesterday morning another message came:

Men left this morning via the Mission. Think there must be something wrong.

Gard then grabbed the telephone and called up Deputy Sheriff Joe Anselmi at San Gabriel for information. Anselmi answered that the man had passed there at 5 a. m., going east. "Take your horse and follow until you catch them," answered Gard, "and notify me."

At noon the Sheriff received from a friend at San Fernando a minute description of the horse and the two supposed thieves, saying they had gone toward Ventura.

In the afternoon, Deputy-Sheriff Russell, of Downey, came in, and told the Sheriff a little story. He said: "I was coming back with ——, from that business up in the San Fernando Valley, last night; and, as the horse was pretty tired, we concluded to stop at San Fernando. At the hotel was a constable who eyed us very sharply. He went out to the corral with some other fellows, inspecting the horse, and I saw they thought he had stolen it somewhere. So I thought I'd play it me him, and accordingly tried to sell him the rig. That settled it. He sat on down at once as horse-thieves; and while we slept the sleep of the just at the hotel, last night, he paced up and down the verandah all night. For that matter, he had half the population watching us. We slipped out early this morning."

Then the Sheriff, bursting with laughter, showed Russell the above-detailed correspondence, and there was a mutual rose. On the night Gard telephoned to San Gabriel he knew it if they had heard from Anselmi. The reply was, "No. He is still on the trail, going east." It is hoped Joe will not strike the Apaches before he drops the trail of his two "horse-thieves."

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1885.

WE print in another part of the TIMES this morning a correspondent's strictures upon some portions of the Memorial Day address of Col. Wells, delivered in this city last Saturday evening. These strictures are severe, but, considering the somewhat remarkable utterances of the speaker upon the disputed points, we are not prepared to say that the strictures are undeserved, or too severe. While all right-feeling Union soldiers and citizens, "with malice toward none, but with charity for all," would very much prefer to see this national holy day pass off decorously, harmoniously and without unpleasant reflections upon anybody concerned—particularly by participants upon each other—it is too much to expect men who stood for the Republic in the long war to keep silent when an attempt is made that even looks towards obliterating the broad distinction marked by the arbitrament of the sword, by the judgment of history, and by the established convictions of the victors as the confirmed dividing line between the two sides to that bloody contest which had for its object, on the one side the destruction, and upon the other side the preservation of the government of our fathers. We know that the utterances in question were received with much disfavor by many of the audience, and the mildest criticism we can make upon Col. Wells is that he made a mistake.

In the course of an editorial on Memorial Day, in the San Francisco Examiner, occurs the following sentence:

For a period long shrouded in the lapse of time the thirtieth of May had been set apart by some religious organizations as a memorial festival. In the olden times it mingled cherished memories of the loved and lost with the lavish affections which the living give to the dead. Then it had no significance outside the expression of a tender regret, etc.

We think there is an error here. The 30th of May was set apart by the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868—General Logan being the Commander-in-Chief of the organization—as a day to be devoted to the beautiful, touching and significant ceremony of decorating the graves of the Union dead; and we have no knowledge of that day having previously been "set apart by some religious organizations as a memorial festival." So far as we are aware, the idea of the ceremony was an original conception on the part of the survivors, in so far as it was intended to be made what it is, a ceremony having a peculiar significance beyond that which attaches to the common practice of decorating graves in general. In its attestation of the love and respect of the living, as well as of their indorsement of the common cause for which the dead laid down their lives, the observance of Memorial Day has its peculiar and original significance.

THE Arizona Citizen continues its extreme hostility to the United States military in that Territory, which it persistently derides and denounces for inefficiency and cowardice. Here is one of the Citizen's belittling paragraphs:

The telegrams from Silver City bring intelligence of a fearful contest—to see which of the troops could reach Fort Bayard first after having shot a wild volley at the Indians. Perhaps their guns got too hot after firing once, and only the sunbeguous shoe of the Fort could properly cool them off. These Indian wars are indeed farces, so far as their fight and pursuit are concerned, but they are bloody tragedies to the innocent and isolated settler and prospector. It is reported that the cowboys have taken the field after the raiding hostiles, which inspires a hope that something may be accomplished.

This sort of talk has not been uncommon among the press of Arizona; but when it comes down to actual and legitimate work in the matter of suppressing hostile Indians, we expect that the much-derided military will have to be depended upon, and we predict that the army will be found equal to the occasion.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean quotes the following from the LOS ANGELES TIMES:

The carp carried from private ponds into the river by the freshets of last year have multiplied rapidly, and the Downey Review says the streams in that section are now well stocked with them.

And then takes the stand and testifies as follows concerning the character and habits of the Brier Carp:

When they begin to get very plentiful California will be sorry she ever introduced this hog among fish into her pure streams. Like the English sparrow among birds, the alianthus among trees, this imported fish is a nuisance. It is strange that with the finest song birds of the world and the most delicious and gamey fish that ever swam, we should import these miserable specimens. The carp is a logy lubber, which gives no sport to the sportsman and is unfit for the table.

GENERAL JAMES B. HARDENBERGH, who died at his home in Oakland last Saturday evening, at the age of 79 years, arrived in California in 1849, coming from his native State, New Jersey. He subsequently made his home in Sacramento, and was mayor of that city in 1852, and afterwards postmaster there. In 1861 he removed to San Francisco and conducted the Bush House for several years. Later he was appointed Surveyor-General of California, discharging the duties of that office during one or two terms. At the time of his death he held a place in the Mint. He had lived in Oakland with his family since 1874.

IN SAN FERNANDO.

Decorating One Soldier's Grave—Address by Dr. Walter Lindley.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

SAN FERNANDO, June 1.—Having but one soldier buried in our cemetery, and he being a member of the A. O. U. W., the order turned out in force to decorate his grave with the choicest flowers of our gardens. The day being beautiful everybody turned out and joined in the procession of the Workmen, and marched in solemn tread to the grave of Hon. A. B. Moffitt, which was entirely covered with the flowers. Prayer was then offered by Senator Maclay. Dr. Lindley, of your city, delivered a very appropriate and eloquent address, an extract from which I send you for publication:

"About fourteen months ago I received a letter couched in earnest, cordial words, requesting me to visit San Fernando and deliver an address. That letter was written by our lamented brother, A. B. Moffitt, whose body lies beneath this clay that is covered by these beautiful flowers, appropriate symbols of admiration and love, but whose soul, whose real self, has long since mounted to heaven. As we stand to-day it is not in the presence of death but in the presence of immortality. We can almost see the perfume, the essence, of these floral tributes as it is being wafted onward and upward, carrying to our brother messages of faith and affection. This is not a day of grief. No! We meet to-day under a halo of freedom, patriotism and glory that circles above our fair land and is composed of the spirits of the brave departed soldiers who risked their lives to suppress a rebellion that menaced our republic. The conspiracy of the defenders of the institution of slavery culminated in blood when Brother Moffitt was a mere boy. Yet his every fibre tingled with an intense fervor of loyalty to the old Stars and Stripes. The cry of that fearless patriot—Abraham Lincoln—for 300,000 more came echoing and re-echoing down the valley of the Ohio and touched a responsive heart-chord in the workman in the shop and the student in the college. 'We are coming, Father Abraham,' was the reply from a half million throats that was rolled back with stupendous vigor from the West to the East. Brother Moffitt joined in that response. Ah! what sad and yet glorious partings there were in those stormy days. Proud, white-headed mothers, whose lives had been devoted to fondly watching the growth and education of their sons, trembled when the first rumor of war came flying across the mountains and valleys of the North. They, too, soon became brave, and each loving mother with one arm still clinging to her dear boy, and with tears welling forth from her eyes, said, 'Go, my son! It almost breaks my heart to give you up, but we must be brave! Go and fight for the preservation of your country and for universal freedom.' There was a final embrace, a last touching of lips, a baptism of tears, and mother and son were parted. A few days of hurrying to and fro, a few days of shrill but thrilling notes from the fife and drum at the recruiting station, and the brave phalanx of a half million was moving south, their feet keeping time, time, time to the music of the Union. In all that great and glorious army there was no braver heart than that of Brother Moffitt. In the brief time allotted to me to-day I cannot give you an idea of his noble war record. He was first with General Fremont in the battles of McDowell, Franklin, Strasburg and Cross Keys, Virginia. He was now transferred to where there were master spirits, to where the grandest heroes of the war were commanding. To the Army of the Tennessee in front of Vicksburg, with Grant as chief, and Sherman and McPherson as his lieutenants. About the time Brother Moffitt was transferred to this army, General Grant issued an order dated in the front of the fired May 7, 1863, 'and closing with 'More difficulties and privations are before us; let us endure them manfully. Other battles are to be fought; let us fight them bravely. A grateful country will rejoice at our success, and history will record it with immortal honor.' On May 14, 1863, Brother Moffitt was with the forces that captured Jackson, the capital of Mississippi. Two days later he was in the great battle and Union victory of Champion Hills, where it is said the ground was literally covered with the dead and dying. After this battle it was on, on, with Grant through trials and privations to Vicksburg and victory. I shall not recount the sufferings of the Union soldiers in that great siege, for it is enough to know that the rebel General Pemberton, with 15,000 soldiers, surrendered to Grant, and on that glorious 4th of July, 1863, the Union forces took possession of Vicksburg, while Lee's forces were hurrying south from Gettysburg and defeat. From Vicksburg Brother Moffitt was sent under Sherman, and we next hear of him at the terrible battle of Kenesaw Mountain. He was a participant in several other battles in Georgia, and in the capture and battle of Atlanta, where the noble McPherson fell. In this brief glance at Brother Moffitt's army life we have no record during the long forty months that he was in the service—of the many days of hunger, thirst and fatigue that he endured; of the many nights that he lay with a knapsack for a pillow and a sheet of rain for a canopy; of the many times when, dirty, ragged and foot-sore, he was hurried on to danger. My acquaintance with Brother Moffitt began about ten years ago. That generous, magnetic grasp of the hand, that genial, hearty salutation; that great desire to make others happy, all who knew him for years

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Government bonds firm, threes and four-and-a-halfs showing the greatest strength.

Stocks were more active to-day, but the increased business was at the expense of a further decline of quotations for the most active stocks, a portion of which, however, was recovered shortly before the o'clock. Considerable weakness was developed in early dealings, the decline being led by Lackawanna. The weakness developed by this stock had a depressing effect upon the whole list, except Union Pacific, which was well supported for a time. The other Gould stocks were not active, and the losses in the quotations were only small. The decline in quotations was aided by an announcement that a further reduction in rail-bound freight rates had been made this morning, amounting to as much as 20 per cent. A prospect of suspension of operations in iron mills throughout the west, and other unfavorable rumors as to the outlook of trade both east and west, was also a help to depress prices. Rengored weakness was developed after midday in Lackawanna, stock selling before 1 o'clock at 99%, a decline from last week of 1% per cent.; after 1 o'clock, however, stock rallied to 101%, sold quickly at 100%, and then moved slowly back to 100% and closed at 101%, which is ¼ higher than it closed on Friday. It is the only stock on the active list which shows any advance. There was considerable strength developed in final dealings in Northwestern, which rose in the last hour from 99 to 99%, and closed a shade low with a loss of ½ per cent.; while St. Paul is down 1 per cent. Other net losses are from ¼ to ½ per cent. above the lowest figures reached in the afternoon. Union Pacific was well supported all day and did not sell below 52¾, from which it rallied to, and closed at, the opening price, while Pacific Mail was dull and heavy. About seventy-four per cent. of the day's business consisted of trading in Lackawanna, St. Paul, Northwestern, Union Pacific and New York Central.

BUGS.

An Ordinance for Their Extermination.

SOME DEFINITE MEASURES PROPOSED.

The Supervisors at Last Take Up the All-Important Subject for Fruit Growers.

The following draft of an ordinance was submitted to the Board of Supervisors yesterday by District Attorney Holton. It elicited a good deal of discussion, but no definite action was secured and the matter will come up again to-day:

An ordinance for the destruction of insects injurious to fruit and fruit trees.

The Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Whenever a petition is presented to the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, signed by five or more persons who are resident freeholders and possessors of an orchard, stating that certain or all orchards or trees of any variety are infected with scale bug, codlin moth or other insects that are destructive of trees, and asking the appointment of a commission to supervise the destruction of such insects, the Board of Supervisors shall, within twenty days after such petition is presented to the Board, appoint three commissioners for the said county, to be known as the County Board of Horticultural Commissioners.

Sec. 2. The Commissioners shall hold their office for the term of three years and until their successors are qualified, except that of the Commissioners first appointed one shall hold for one year, one for two years, and the third for three years. The Commissioners first appointed shall decide by lot which of them shall hold for one year and which for two and which for three years. After the first Commissioners are appointed the Board of Supervisors shall appoint one Commissioner every year, such appointment to be made one month or thereabouts before the commencement of the term of the appointee.

Sec. 3. Any vacancy which may for any cause occur in the commission shall be filled by appointment by the Board of Supervisors. The appointee to fill a vacancy shall hold for the balance of the unexpired term.

Sec. 4. Whenever the County Board of Horticultural Commissioners shall be informed by complaint in writing, of any person residing in said county that an orchard, nursery or tree or any place of their jurisdiction is infested with scale bug, codlin moth, red spider or other noxious insects (liable to spread contagion dangerous to the trees or fruit of the complainant) or their eggs or larvæ injurious to fruit or fruit trees, they shall cause inspection to be made of the said premises, and if found infected they shall notify the owner or owners, or the person or persons in charge or possession of the said trees or place that the same are infected with said insects or any of them or their eggs or larvæ and shall require such person or persons to disinfect the same within such reasonable time as they may direct, to be specified in the notice. Such notice may be served by any commissioner or person deputed by the commissioners for that purpose, and shall be served by delivering a copy thereof to such owner or person having charge thereof, personally. Provided that, when any person other than the owner is in possession or charge of such place the notice shall be served upon the owner if within the county as well as the person so in charge or possession of such premises.

Sec. 5. If, within the time specified in said notice such disinfection has not been accomplished, then each person or persons shall be required by notice to be served as hereinafter provided, to make application of such treatment, applied in such manner as the Commissioners shall direct. The Commissioners may provide, but subject to the general laws of the State of California.

Sec. 6. If the person so notified shall fail to disinfect such places or to apply such treatment in the manner and within the time prescribed in the notice, such orchards, premises or places shall be deemed a public nuisance, and may be proceeded against in any court of competent jurisdiction and abated as such nuisance, and by the disinfection of such place under the direction of said commissioners or other public authority, or by the destruction thereof when necessary to prevent the spread of such disease or pest.

Sec. 7. The costs and expenses of such proceeding for the compulsory disinfection of such premises, including the expenses of disinfection when ordered, shall be a lien upon said premises.

Sec. 8. Said Board of Commissioners shall have the power to divide the county into districts and appoint a local inspector for each district, who shall perform such duties as may be required of him by the Board of Commissioners.

Sec. 9. Said County Board of Horticultural Commissioners shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law, and for a failure to perform such duties, or any of their duties, they may be removed by the Board of Supervisors upon complaint in writing.

Sec. 10. Each Commissioner and Local Inspector shall receive for his services five dollars for each day in which he is actually engaged in the performance of his duties, but not to exceed in any one year for a Commissioner ——— and for each Inspector ———.

Sec. 11. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the ——day of June A. D., 1885, and prior to said day shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, for at least one week in the Evening Express, a newspaper published in the said county.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

MONDAY, June 1, 1885.

The Board met in regular session; present, full Board and Clerk.

Petitions for roads in Santa Monica and South Santa Monica, with bonds, were filed. L. G. Gibson, Anderson Rose and E. T. Wright appointed viewers.

Supervisor Hinds reported that he had purchased six McCall road machines for the county and one machine each for Centinela and Wilmington districts.

Reports of township officers read and filed.

All roads in San Pedro and Compton were declared public highways, and the supervisors instructed to remove all obstructions from the same.

An ordinance for the destruction of insects injurious to fruit and fruit trees, drawn by the District Attorney, was read.

Supervisor Lindley moved that the order of this Board authorizing the District Attorney to appoint an assistant at a salary of $125 per month be rescinded, and in lieu thereof the District Attorney be authorized to appoint an assistant at $100 a month and one deputy at $50 a month. Carried.

Adjourned until Tuesday, June 2d.

Episcopal Social.

A musical entertainment is to be given this (Tuesday) evening at 8 p. m. at the school room of St. Paul's Church, on Olive street, under the direction of Mr. A. I. F. McKiernan, for the benefit of the poor fund.

The ladies of the Committee on the Poor will furnish refreshments at moderate cost, and 25 cents will be charged for admission.

The following persons will kindly give their services: Miss Weston, Mr. Clarke, Mr. F. Gottschalk, Mr. W. B. Shaw, Mr. J. Y. Griffith and Mr. A. I. F. McKiernan. Accompanyists—Mr. McKiernan and Professor Brandon. The piano is kindly furnished by Messrs. Day & Brown, No. 11 N. Spring street.

School Director of Highland Park.

A. W. Potts removed some time since to Highland Park and is the lone Democrat in the district. Notwithstanding his politics he has been appointed School Director by a Republican administration and the chances are that the appointment will be unanimously confirmed by the people. Somehow Mr. Potts cannot keep out of office.

Enstowed.

Mr. F. E. Phillips, accompanied by a party of friends, will leave Los Angeles for the east June 9th. Any one wishing to join the party can do so by communicating with Mr. Phillips, at 241 N. Main street, Los Angeles.

The New City Building.

This handsomely constructed building will be fully done to-day, barring unexpected delays, and will probably be turned over to the Council this afternoon. Nothing was left undone last night except a little painting and cleaning out. The cornices are being repainted and sanded, and the gutter in front is being bouldered. The water-closets for the jail have arrived, and will probably be put in to-day. The varnishers, grainers and glazers have made a great change in the inner appearance of the building, which is now a decidedly attractive sight. The city officials will hardly know themselves when they exchange their present dingy dens for the handsome rooms of the new building.

Early in the Morning.

They are brothers-in-law, both well-to-do, old settlers, and live within five miles of the scene of the robbery. The money stolen was not recovered, but the other property was.

"Does it heal?" is often asked of the Edwards Oil Burner. We say emphatically, to perfection, retaining the most juices without scorching, charring or taste of fire, so often occurring over coals or wood.

FRANK TOAL.

Examination June 9—His Victim Will Recover.

Frank Toal, who so nearly butchered his wife last Friday night, was arraigned before Justice Austin yesterday for assault to murder. Toal wanted Col. J. F. Godfrey to defend him, and that gentleman was sent for but did not appear. Toal therefore asked a continuance. His examination will be before Justice Austin at 10 a. m., June 9th. He was committed in default of $5000 bail.

Dr. Shorb said to a TIMES reporter last night, in reply to an inquiry as to Mrs. Toal's condition: "She is doing excellently, and there is little doubt that she will recover. No, I don't apprehend any danger of blood poisoning. She has a wonderful vitality."

Dr. Reed, who took charge of the case of Mrs. Toal on Saturday, pronounce her condition such as to prevent a positive prognosis as yet. She has internal injuries, the result of which must be awaited. Then there is the possibility of erysipelas setting in as a sequel to the savage gashes about the neck and face. Yet he is of opinion that she will recover.

When Gus Leonard, the proprietor, objected to this, it is alleged that McLaughlin pulled a gun and began to shoot at him. Leonard unlimbered in return, but says he only did
